Chautauqua Concludes

Chautauqua week has ended, and all those who had the privilege of attending the sessions have no regrets to offer, save that this means of entertainment and enlightenment could not have been continued for another week.

This season's productions have been by far the best yet. The lectures, of which there were several, were highly instructive and interesting, and of the class to which one could listen and never tire. The musical and other programs were of the highest order and much appreciated.

Financially, the Chautauqua was not the success that was anticipated, but those responsible for its introduction feel it a pleasure to meet their end of the deficit, feeling that they have at any rate done good service to the community by securing something worth while.

Fifty names were required for a new contract, but up to time of going to press that number had not quite been reached.

Peter Vergin Heads New Farm Company

The Edmonton Journal of today says: "It now looks as if the Donkhobers, instead of quitting Alberta, as rumored a short time ago, are intending to settle down even more permanently than before. They have just organized, for business purposes, the 'Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood of Alberta,' which has been incorporated and duly entered upon the list of new commercial enterprises in this province. Peter Vergin himself, leader and business adviser of the Donkhobers, is No. 1 on the directorate, and associated with him are J. R. Shankin and W. M. Czaroff. The concern opens up with an authorized capitalization of $20,000, and Cowley is its headquarters. Agricultural pursuits of assorted kinds are the object of the Universal Brotherhood. The Donkhobers have, during the past year or two, purchased considerable tracts of land in the Cowley district, and they have now organized on a business basis to operate these land holdings. It is to be a thorough going community scheme of the kind the Donks have always liked, and its charter makes provision for profit-sharing among the members of the brotherhood and for a general co-operative business, including not only farming, ranching and dealing in land, but merchandising and manufacturing. Vergin, the man who doesn't like the Canadian school system, and who has recently been down in Alabama, landhunting for another possible influx of his people, is presumably to be at the head of the enterprise, having taken the lead, we should be getting the impression, in some of the more recent Donk schemes."

Look to the Foundations

For the first time in the history of the United States the population of the cities and towns at present exceeds the rural population. This is the interesting but at the same time disquieting fact disclosed by the recent census of the republic. While all the figures have not yet been tabulated, examination of the returns is sufficiently far advanced to warrant the above statement, according to officials.

It has, of course, been known for a long time that one of the effects of the wonderful industrial activity brought about in the United States by the war was the exodus of people to the larger centres of population to which they were attracted by the prevailing high wages and by a demand for workers which opened to energetic and capable men, and women, too, splendid opportunities for a rapid advancement. Then, too, thousands of young men drafted from the farm into the army have not returned to the land upon their discharge from military service which, if it did not actually take them overseas, brought them into cantonments and camps on the outskirts of centres of population and introduced them to city life.

The same shifting of population is, unfortunately, taking place in Canada. While it is doubtful if the urban population of the Dominion has actually outstripped the rural, as in the United States, we are on the high road to such a development. In the old farming Province of Ontario this has already taken place, and but for the fact that the three prairie provinces are still dominantly rural, the figures for Canada might easily be similar to those of the United States.

Proportionately it is said that 50,000 fewer Canadians are engaged in agriculture today than in 1872. According to a recent speech by the Ontario Minister of Agriculture, 30 percent of the population some 48 years ago lived in towns and 70 percent in the country. Today the figures are almost exactly reversed—the 70 percent in Ontario live in the towns.

In a recent article in this column the question was asked as to what was the explanation, and certain views were expressed as to the fact that might be taken to check this disastrous tendency on the part of young people to get away from the land. Nothing is to be gained, however, by blinking the fact, now generally recognized and admitted, that the industrial advancement of the Dominion has been encouraged at the expense of the agricultural. Country life has not been made attractive enough at a time when the attractions of city life have multiplied amazingly; farming has not been sufficiently remunerative during a period when mounting wages coupled with steadily shorter hours of labor have called their appeal from the cities.

The natural, the inevitable result is the increase in the consuming public and the decrease in the number of producers. As Hon. Mr. Doherty put it: "We have believed that big smokestacks spell happiness and prosperity. But the real solution of all our troubles is increased agricultural production." Who can question this?

Surveys of the monetary equivalent of the return of the average farmer in the Dominion were recently made showing that the majority were making less than $1,000 a year. Thirty cents an hour was the average wage of both a farmer and his wife on a 100-acre farm in the year of the armistice—a figure which the unfilled city laborer and charwoman would reject with scorn. Needless to say such a return is in itself sufficient to explain why the second generation deserts the farm, without giving consideration to other factors in the problem.

There never was a time when the agricultural industry needed more generous assistance and encouragement. It calls for the best thought on the part of all Governments and public bodies. The Dominion is growing top heavy, and while those at the top may not at the moment fully realize their danger, they are occupying a perilous position, and in their own interests and for their future self-protection it is high time they began to look to the agricultural foundations upon which all industry in Canada primarily rests.

Uses For Inferior Fruit

Okanagan Growers Will Manufacture Fruit Juices

The Okanagan United Growers, the big Okanagan cooperative concern, has started a subsidiary company this year which will make use of all the poor fruit, apples particularly.

For too long, says an Exchange, British Columbia growers have neglected their inferior fruit, the fresh fruit market, where it has pulled down the price of the better grades. It is a well known marketing rule that whenever a cheaper article comes onto the market, quotations of the better varieties drop to lower levels.

Then why do British Columbia fruit growers send this cheap fruit to market? Because they have no facilities to handle it so that some stores, however small, may be received. Now they intend manufacturing large quantities of inferior fruit into cider and fruit juices of various flavors.

The apple cider business is only in its infancy, and British Columbia up to the present has not taken advantage of this business in a big way. There are, to be sure, a number of cider mills scattered throughout the province but not nearly enough.

And not only is cider in demand, but other fruit drinks. Loganberries, and the juices of other berries make palatable-tasting drinks.

Every year in the Fraser Valley there must be lost hundreds and hundreds of dollars' worth of fruit that is too ripe to ship. This could all be utilized in making fruit juices.

States Will Want Alberta Cattle

Live stock Man From Chicago Sees A Market For Canadian Product

That there will be an enormous demand for Canadian feeders and stockers in the United States this fall, is the information given by A. A. Walters, of the firm of Walters & Dunbar, one of the principal livestock commission houses in Chicago. Mr. Walters is at present in the West, looking into the cattle situation generally. He stated that without the slightest doubt stock raisers on the other side of the line this year would be able to absorb all the feeders and stockers that Alberta can offer this year at good prices.

According to Mr. Walters Canadian cattle are pre-eminently suitable for finishing purposes, compared to those from the southern and southwestern states, as they were able to stand the winter much better.

Every effort on the part of cattlemen he said, were being taken to block the 27 percent tariff bill on Canadian cattle which was before the Senate, and which had been passed by the lower house. The Senate, however, would not meet until December next, so that there would be no question about the free importation of animals this fall.

While the demand was great at the present time for Canadian stockers and feeders this would be much more noticeable in about thirty days, as farmers in the corn belt were busy just now harvesting, by September first they would be through and will be in the market for all the Canadian cattle they could lay their hands on. One of the most important statements of Mr. Walters was that these farmers did not require any financial assistance from the banks in connection with the purchase of these cattle. They were mostly bought in comparatively small individual lots, and had ample means of providing all funds necessary. The principal sales were made on the Chicago market, also at St. Paul and Winnipeg.

"Canadian cattle rank very high in the United States," continued Mr. Walters. "They put on weight quickly and experiments carried out on a large scale prove conclusively that they are satisfactory in every way."

The South African Sweet

A remarkable sweet business in the leaves of a South African plant was brought to notice several years ago, and was declared to be 180 times as sweet as cane sugar. The material has been found to be not a true sugar but a glycerine. The plant seems to have been difficult to obtain, but the U. S. Department of Agriculture has succeeded in getting a number of ounces of the dried leaves and a small quantity of the seed. The leaves are reported to be as sweet as saccharin, the marvelous cool fat product.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEATHER

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach troubles come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in the house where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will relieve the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Smoke in the Air

Airman Responsible For Any Damage His Pipe May Cause

An airman who drops a lighted pipe from his plane is responsible for any damage his pipe may cause. This was decided at a court of inquiry in Gray's Inn Hall, London, recently, at which Justice Darling presided. Justice Darling, in the course of his judgment, said that for an airman to take a lighted pipe and smoke it when flying at a point where if it fell it would fall by gravitation to the earth instead of to the moon, to allow it to fall or not prevent it to fall—that was in itself prima facie negligence. If the pipe fell to earth and set fire to a haystack or any other damage the person injured was entitled to an action to recover damages for negligence.

Crop Prospects

Estimates Wheat Yield at 250,000,000 Bushels

Canada's wheat fields will yield from 225,000,000 to 250,000,000 bushels this year. This estimate has been made by W. A. Black, vice-president and managing director of the Ogilvie Milling Company, and is based upon crop reports received by the company from its agents. Compared with last year's yield, this is an increase of 50,000,000 to 75,000,000 bushels.

Peddle German Money

Smart Salesmen From U. S. Pick Up Fortune in Ontario

It is reported that two smart salesmen from across the line, both of German descent, have been peddling German marks, or coupons therefore, through the German settlements of western Ontario, particularly around Hanover, Tavistock and Shakespeare. They are said to get a commission of fifty cents on the dollar and to have cleaned up a hundred thousand dollars in one week. Apparently they are working on behalf of New York curb brokers.

The people among whom they are working are extremely conservative, and prefer to have their money at three and a half percent in the savings bank than risk it in speculation. But the appeal is racial. They are told that the money they invest will help to put the fatherland on its feet, and that then, with the mark restored to par value, they will make a great profit. Needless to say they are paying a great deal more than current exchange for the mark, which they could buy over any Canadian bank counter.

Among the victims it is said that two old Mennonite ladies took their life savings of ten thousand dollars out of the savings bank and invested the money in German marks at two or three times their current value price.

Leaving the Rural Districts

U. S. 1920 Census Will Show a Large Increase in Cities and Towns

For the first time in the history of the United States, the 1920 census returns will show that more persons live in the cities and towns than in the rural territory, officials of the census bureau estimated.

When the final tabulations are completed, the officials declared, they expect it to be shown that 51 or 52 percent of the total population of the continental United States reside in urban districts.

"There has been a very great tendency towards large increases in the cities and towns, which we cannot account for, unless it has come from the country," said Samuel L. Rogers, director of the census. "This tendency towards the cities has been apparent for some time."

Must Avoid War If at All Possible Says Lloyd George

London.—A significant reference to the present crisis was made by Premier Lloyd George, in addressing a meeting of Coalition Liberals. After expressing fervent hope for co-operation between Great Britain and France, which he said had been "sanctified by the common sacrifice" the premier continued, apparently alluding to the possibility of war with Russia, "When the terrible question of peace or war has to be decided our first duty as a government is to the people who trust us not to commit their treasury to any unjustifiable adventure. Nothing but the most imperative call of national honor, call for safety and freedom can justify war, before this country is committed to it, even in the most limited form we must be satisfied that these are in peril."

Paris.—Great Britain has communicated officially with France with regard to the differences between the two governments. From the statement issued by the semi-official Havas agency, the statement says: "The British charge d'affaires this morning brought to the general secretary of the ministry of foreign affairs, a communication from the government. From the conversation engaged in between the charge and M. Paléologue (Maurice Paléologue, the general secretary of the French foreign affairs), it developed that both governments are examining in the most friendly spirit the divergent views in which have occurred between them, but which will not prevent them from continuing their friendly collaboration."

Noyon, France—Premier Millerand in the course of a reception at the city hall here, on his trip through the liberated regions, after declaring that France placed no consideration above that of the national reconstruction, continued:

"The allies are united, and will remain so. There are no insurmountable differences, due to the different characteristics of the nations, but the bond of unity was forged amidst severe trials, and a union firmly fortified in such conditions must not be dissolved."

Greek Premier is Wounded

Shooting Occurred When Premier Leaving Lion Station On Way to Nice

Paris.—Premier Venizelos of Greece was attacked and wounded as he was leaving the Lion railroad station for Nice. As the premier stepped on a train two men fired revolvers at him. He was wounded slightly. His assailants were arrested.

Eight shots were fired at the Premier. The shooting occurred at 9:45 p.m. Premier Venizelos was taking leave of his friends when two swarthy individuals rushed from the crowd, one firing three shots and the other five before they were overpowered. The premier was reported to have been shot in the right side and the left arm. His assailants, following their arrest, were rescued from the crowds by police with great difficulty, the mob shouting "Lynch them." Both of the men were seriously manhandled.

Missing Soldier is Located

Was Held by the Enemy Yet Officially Claimed "Deserted"

Vancouver, B. C.—Missing since November, 1917, mourned as dead by his wife and family, and classed by the military department at Ottawa as a "deserter" from the 47th Canadians Pte. J. W. Cooke, of this city, has been written from Little Orchard, Watlington, England, stating that he had been two years in Germany, and was in an English nursing home recovering from the effects of German imprisonment. While in Germany he had lost all trace of his family.

Mrs. Cooke was notified in May, 1918, that her allowances were stopped because her husband had "deserted," but it would appear that Cooke had been a prisoner of war in Germany.

Lake Captains Lose Licenses

Did Not Assist Sinking Steamer When Fifteen Were Drowned

Marquette, Mich.—The licenses of Captains Lawrence J. Francis, of the steamer H. P. McIntosh and Kenneth McKee, of the Adriatic, both from Cleveland, Ohio, have been revoked by Steamboat Inspectors Gooding and Hanson on the ground that the two were guilty of neglect, misconduct and inattention to duty in the sinking of the steamer Myron off Whitefish Point, November 21, 1919. It is charged this is the first instance of the kind in the history of Great Lakes navigation.

Failure to render aid to the sinking steamer when assistance would have saved the lives of some 15 persons, who perished, was the chief charge against Francis and McKee.

Did Not Count on U.S.

American Troops Were Factor in Bringing About Armistice, However

Toronto.—We had planned to go through the war without the United States and could have done it," declared Robert Donald, formerly editor of the London Chronicle, in the course of an address before members of the Empire club here.

"America, at the time of the armistice," said Mr. Donald, "had a rifle strength of 325,000 in France, though 2,000,000 were overseas, most of them brought in British ships. They were not in any fighting force, but in three months they would have been, and it was their presence that was a determining factor in bringing about the armistice."

Officers of Ex-Imperial Army Serve On Staff

Moscow.—A large number of generals of the ex-Imperial Russian army are serving with the Bolsheviks.

In contrast to General Brusiloff, who is in command of a Red army, Kuropatkin, the generalissimo in the Russo-Japanese war, has, at the age of 70, become a clerk on the staff. General Parsley is entrusted with the defence of Moscow, and General Ledebef, who was condemned to death, holds an important position on the staff.

For Higher Express Rates

Hearings in Toronto To Commence On September 2

Montreal.—The first hearing of the express companies in their application for increased rates will be heard in Toronto on September 2, and subsequent meetings will be held in the various cities throughout Canada. The increase at present asked for amounts to 40 percent. The railways have amended their application for increased freight rates, and have asked for an additional ten percent increase, making a total of 40 percent.

"In the event of this being granted said an official of the express traffic association, "it is possible that the express companies may amend their application and increase the percentage from 40 to 50 percent."

Two Harvesters Shot

Store Keeper Attacks Them When They Try to Get Food

Winnipeg.—Two men, bound for Western Canada harvest fields, are in St. Boniface hospital suffering from gunshot wounds as the result of an attack made on them at Kapuskasing, Ont., on Tuesday afternoon. They are Ralph Lucas, 22 years old and Ralph Torralville, 25, both from Halifax.

According to reports given railroad officials, both men were shot by a storekeeper in Kapuskasing when they attempted to force him to give them food. Neither of them is seriously wounded, Lucas being shot in the calf of the leg, and Torralville in the thigh.

ARGUMENTS FOR THE INCREASE IN FREIGHT RATES

RIISING COSTS IN OPERATION

D. B. Hanna Says Railways Not Asking For Increase to Pile up Profits

Ottawa.—The railway presidents appeared before the Dominion railway commission to support the application for increased freight and passenger rates. They were D. B. Hanna, president of the Canadian National Railways system, and Edward G. Kelly, president of the Grand Trunk Railway, and also of the Canadian Railway association, which is making the application. Their arguments were substantially the same. The high cost of labor and material were the chief argument. The railways could not exist or get on a paying basis if the rates were not advanced.

Mr. Hanna made it clear that the lines under his jurisdiction were not asking for increases in order to pile up profits. He insisted, however, that the national roads, even though regarded as poor relations of the government should be permitted to earn enough to make both ends meet. He was opposed to a system which would compel them to go to parliament yearly to ask for money to meet deficits. He gave a number of instances to illustrate how costs had advanced, stating that spikes to nail ties had increased in cost from 15 cents in 1914 to 4 cents in 1920, and that the ties themselves had risen from 45 to 90 cents.

Mr. Kelly also went into the question of costs. He said that in the year 1913 the average wage paid on Grand Trunk was $908. In 1919 it had more than doubled and stood at $1,391. If the Chicago labor award was adopted by the Canadian railways the average wage paid on the Grand Trunk per annum, would be $1,780.84, or an increase of 157 percent since 1913.

MEIGHEN ON THE GENERAL POLICY OF NEW PARTY

FOR PRESENT FISCAL SYSTEM

Advocates Same Councils in Conduct Of Affairs of the Nation

Stirling, Ont.—Vigorous condemnation of the National Progressive party and Liberal Opposition, emphatic pronouncement in favor of the continuance in force by Canada of its present fiscal system and warm praise for the war and general record of the Union government, characterized Hon. Arthur Meighen's speech at Stirling Village, West Hastings county.

Out of the union of parties which formed the union government, he declared, "has grown the new National Liberal-Conservative Party. No political party in the world was ever better born or better bred. It was born out of the war and it is national because it is the nation."

Defending the present fiscal system, the prime minister emphasized the need for its continuance, both for the maintenance of the industrial life of the nation and the provision of necessary revenues. It was only by making more goods than could be sold in the United States that the value of the Canadian dollar could be maintained on the other side of the boundary. In support of this contention he quoted a memorandum of a Western Liberal government saying: "But the platform of the farmers in effect and you would immediately reduce the value of the Canadian dollar in the United States to 50 cents."

Mr. Meighen commended the tariff platform on which the Australian government was elected and which declares for the production of industries born during the war, the encouragement of others that are desirable and the extension of existing ones. He quoted the platform of the Labor party of the Commonwealth in its support of adequate protection and declared that the first people who would suffer by the adoption of any policy approaching free trade would be the laboring classes. He denied that the tariff has been oppressive to the agricultural interests of Canada.

The prime minister was more inclined to ensure that more, he said, would be in favor of a policy of free trade for party advantage than the people who really believe a cure for all our ills is to be found in the adoption of that policy. He characterized such advocates of free trade as humbugs. The trouble was that in the event of the government being defeated, those who would go the farthest in the advocacy of free trade would be in opposition to it when in power.

Closing his references to the tariff the prime minister said that the cabinet tariff commission, which commenced its labors in September, will thoroughly require into the question to determine what is abundantly necessary to make the end meet and that is the chief question to be decided. To carry on the work of the government and pay our debts, to give Canadian industry enough advantage in the Canadian market as to enable them to expand and to keep Canadian workmen in Canada.

In a forceful and eloquent peroration, the prime minister made a plea for the adoption of sound councils in the conduct of the affairs of the nation. After painting a dark picture of affairs in many European countries, he said: "I stand for unity in Canada, for solidarity of condition and freedom of enterprise within our borders. The lesson for Canada and the free peoples of the British Empire is to avoid the pitfalls which have sunk into oblivion other nations, and of those that are writhing in chaos and suffering. I shall strive with all my power for national unity, embracing all races, languages and creeds."

"I shall fight with all my energy for national solidarity, for moderation of thought and action; for orderly progress; for the maintenance of law and order and for the policies which have brought us where we stand." (Applause.)

Poland Accepts Hungary's Help
London.—Reports from Polish sources to the Exchange Telegraph company's Amsterdam correspondent say Poland has accepted the offer of the Hungarian government to send a few regiments to participate in the war against the Bolsheviks.

Hungary, it is said, is disposed to send some 10,000 soldiers and war munitions and material, and to place the Hungarian Red Cross at Poland's disposal.

Poles Making Desperate Stand Against the Reds

Alberta Bandit Captured

Basoff, the Bandit Murderer, is Taken At Pincher Creek

Calgary, Alta.—The Alberta reports the capture of Basoff, the bandit, as follows:

"Basoff, the bandit murderer, was run to earth close to Pincher Creek in a shack near the railway track, was arrested, and gave himself up. No shots were fired."

"His capture was due to the wide-awake engineer of a pusher engine running from Pincher to Burns, who at 10:15 this evening noticed a man on the track, revealed by the brilliant rays of a powerful headlight, several hundred yards away. The engineer immediately notified the police and a posse set off down the track, locating Basoff alone in a broken-down shack. Exemption papers found in his pocket make his identity certain. The bandit was evidently exhausted and hungry and gave himself up without trouble."

There is little change on the remainder of the front, except in the south, where the activity of the Bolshevik General Budenny has the choice of two alternatives; he either can push northward between the Bug and Vistula rivers, and hamper the concentration and movement of the Polish reserves, or move southwestward and turn the Polish defences on the West Gallian rivers, swing down upon Lemberg, and eventually upon Przemyśl, and the line of the San river.

One-Armed Men Do Efficient Work

Carriage Manufacturer Has Three Hundred in His Factory

Winnipeg.—England's greatest employer of one-armed men was a recent visitor to Winnipeg. He is W. H. Dunkley, of London, manufacturer of carriages, and is on a preliminary survey of land and social conditions with a view of bringing poor from the slums of London to Canadian farms.

Since the armistice Mr. Dunkley has employed none but one-armed men. He now has three hundred of them in his factory and has found that these crippled soldiers, properly trained, can do almost the work of a man with two hands.

Bread Prices Still Mounting

Cost Throughout Dominion Averages $ 4.5 cents per Pound

Ottawa.—The price of bread in Canada, taking the whole Dominion for an average, increased during June to the extent of half a cent per 24-ounce loaf. Flour increased in cost 65 cents a barrel, equivalent to one quarter of a cent per pound or about two-fifths of a cent per 24-ounce loaf.

The total average cost of bread throughout the Dominion was eight and three-fifths cents per pound, equivalent to twelve and nine-tenths cents per pound and a half loaf. The consumption of bread per capita increased nearly six percent, and the average yield of bread per barrel was 264 pounds, a gain of two pounds over May.

Since January, the cost of flour has gone up from $10.87 per barrel to $13.36. Calgary leads the west in the matter of high cost with nearly nine and a half cents per pound. Edmonton is a little above nine cents. Bread was cheapest in London, Ont., where prices are a trifle above seven percent.

Mennonites Observing School Laws

Considerable Improvement in School Attendance Shown In Saskatchewan

Regina, Sask.—According to Premier Martin, the latest reports reaching the department of education regarding the situation in the Mennonite settlement near Swift Current is showing a considerable improvement and figures for school attendance are much higher than last year.

This change is not the result of any change of heart on the part of the Mennonites, but comes with the stern measures adopted by the government to compel the Mennonites to obey the education law of the province.

The Premier says that no little difficulty has been met with in enforcing these laws, as many of the settlers prefer to spend ten days in jail rather than pay the insignificant fines imposed.

Statistics figure that the population of the world average 110 women to every 100 men.

Watch Action of Japan

Australia Likely to Send Delegates To League Conference

London.—The Daily Telegraph's Sydney correspondent says that the government is considering the advisability of sending a special delegation to the League of Nations Conference at Geneva. The position is regarded as important, considering the delay in issuing the mandate for the Pacific territories. It is believed that Japan is making strenuous efforts to secure an amendment to the Versailles treaty on this matter.

Poland Will Ask Aid From United States

Polish Minister Will Take U. S. At Its Word and Expect Assistance

Washington.—Poland will ask immediate aid of the United States, it is announced by Prince Lubomirski, the Polish minister, more than that it will seek to develop precisely what the United States Government has announced in its note to the Italian government, "that it would employ all available means to maintain a free Poland."

Expressing complete satisfaction with the note, the minister declared he was convinced that it would inspire Poland with "a new spirit of hope." He added that his country was sorely in need of war materials of all kinds and that it probably would first seek credit from the United States so as to purchase them.

Simultaneously with the minister's announcement the legation made public a proclamation issued by the Polish council of national defence at Warsaw, warning the nations that a "new war hangs over the world" and that it would be crushed by the Bolsheviks if it will be due to the "indifference of a world which calls itself democratic."

Copies of the United States note to Italy, it was said at the state department, have been delivered to the representatives of the allied and associated governments and distributed to all the news centers of the world, promising its widest dissemination, even in Russia itself.

Music's Effect on Animals

From time to time investigations have been made in order to ascertain whether the legend of Orpheus, the wonderful music of whose lyre entrained the wild beasts of the forests, rests upon a fair Cornish, at the London Zoological gardens, tried to discover by experiment what effect music would have upon the creatures therein in captivity. With him was a musical friend, who played on the violin to insects, reptiles, birds and beasts.

The tarantulas listened, or did not listen, unmoved and sulky. They whose bite is said to be able to cause others to dance refused to dance themselves. Not so with the scorpions. After a few notes had been played they began rattling and writhing and danced frantically—their excitement increasing with every crescendo and decreasing with every diminuendo.

In the reptiles' cages more marked effects were seen. The monitor lizard listened and away it thick snakes were attentive and started up and hissed. A box eel, as close as possible to the instrument and seemed enraptured.

But of all the snakes, the cobra is reported to be the most susceptible to music and the specimens experimented on at the zoo did not belie its fame. On hearing the violin it raised itself in the traditional attitude on its tail and spread its hood gently swaying to and fro the while.

The first quadrupeds to which the violin was played were polar and grizzly bears, which manifested much pleasure and stood up at the front of the cages to listen. The wolves howled and cowered in fear at the sound of the violin, with their tails between their legs, hair bristling and bodies quivering in spasms of fright. The same results were obtained in the case of jackals and foxes. The sheep, naturally cowardly, found much pleasure in that which frightened the wolves. So did the wild dogs, the lions and the zebras.

The elephant did not care for the music, but moved and shifted with ease. The monkeys displayed a critical diversity of sentiment. Some listened eagerly with nods and gestures of appreciation, while others scowled and turned away in disgust.

Further experiments were made on the various animals with other instruments, especially with the piccolo and the flute. As a rule, the shrill notes of the piccolo annoyed, frightened or enraged the animals, while the softer tones of the flute soothed and pleased them. —New York Sun and Herald.

Will Grow Square Logs

It may yet prove to be the wonder village of the Cow's Nest. Pass, if recent reports from neighbours prove true.

Recently capitalists interested have visited the village, tested samples of the soil, and are unanimous in their opinion that it is ideally located and has just the right kind of light gravelly soil necessary to raise square logs.

When asked how this was to be done, they would give out no information, except to state that the process had been perfected in Egypt during the war, that experiments had been carried on there for years, and that finally they had discovered the secrets of the Egyptians of Cleopatra's time. The gentlemen interested in the new industry explained that a light gravelly soil situated at an altitude of approximately four thousand feet is necessary to the quick growth of the square log. The tree grows very quickly and within a period of three years will produce a square log measuring 12x12 inches and 20 feet long, being blunt at the top and having but three small limbs at the top which are taken off at the time of removing the blunt end, leaving clear timber equal to the best of all. They state that removing the bark is all that is then necessary to produce a marketable square log. The bark is used in the manufacture of the better grades of India paper. The square limbs are pulled out of the ends which have been sawed off, leaving square holes in the same. These ends in turn are sawed up in widths of one and six inch by three feet and are sold to barrel factories, the square hole making a more satisfactory bung hole than the present round one. This limb will be used for fuel in their mill.

They propose to plant a forest of this particular tree and state that within one year after planting they will produce 4x4 square timber, two years after planting they will produce 6x6 square timber, their health in other ways," he said.

"I tell you frankly that they who dance the Shimmy or allow it to be danced, or who approve of this style of dancing, have lost a great deal of their sense of decency and I think that the fox-trot is not far behind the Shimmy in its effects on morals."

Ed Royle is meeting with considerable success as a piano teacher with children in their elementary stage. This is due to his long and varied practical experience as a pianist and organist. The writer, having known him for a long time, will in the near future give a short summary of his career, which will no doubt be of great interest to all music lovers of this district.

Notices are out from the school board for a loan of $40,000 to enlarge the school. Whilst this is a worthy object, it would be just as well for the school board to consider the advisability of having the school in a more central part of the village, not at one end of it. When it is taken into consideration the amount of schooling the children of Peaceful Valley have during the winter months, especially a cold and stormy period, and often, after tramping all the distance through snowdrifts to find there was no school. It is an open question whether or not the board is taking the wisest course in spending money on the present school site instead of finding a better location for our most important public institution.

CHAPTER VIII.

Gloss, standing in the kitchen doorway, gazed outward across the bronzed trees to the dark-colored sky resting above Rond-Eau.

There was a smile on her lips and her eyes were alive with the light of genuine girlish happiness. She did not know why she should be so glad; but today she felt like singing; like racing out into the hardwoods and tramping the long leaf-curved aisles—she wanted to be out in the open. A flock of wild geese wedged their way between two tiny strips of blue sky and were lost in a heavy snow-cloud above the Point. The girl clasped her hands joyfully and springing backward like a young gazelle, she snatched her cap from a peg and tiptoed into the inner room.

Granny McTavish looked up from her knitting, a smile on her wrinkled face.

"Lass," she said softly, "but ye are gettin' mair like your dear mither every day. And she was bonnie, yer snaw was bonnie, lassie."

The girl sank on her knees and told the old hands in hers.

"Am I like my mother, Granny," she asked eagerly. "Very like her?" "Aye, dearie, ye have her eyes and ye have her beautiful hair; ye have her face and ye have her smile. I've tak me awa back to the time I first saw your mither, Gloss. Ye will no gainin' out o' th' snaw, pet," noting with concern that Gloss had on her cap and coat. "I ne'er lak to see ye ramblin' about i' th' woods after th' snaw falls on account o' th' wolves, cheeld."

"And she was beautiful, and I am like her," said the girl softly. "Oh, Granny, I'm beginning to miss my mother!"

"Cheeld, cheeld," said the old woman, drawing the girl over to her bosom. "It's over the way. The mither is missed, always, but the cheeld canna miss her lak the woman. And ye are growin' into a woman, Gloss; ye are growin' into a woman fast, lassie."

She picked up her knitting and rocked to and fro, crooning to herself. The girl arose and, bending, kissed her softly on the smooth white hair. Then she crossed the kitchen and peeped into the larger of the bedrooms.

"She's sleepin', lass; best slip awa' and no disturb her," whispered Granny. "She'll no last much langer, dearie; she'll no last much langer, I fear."

A look of sorrow came into the girl's eyes and her mouth trembled.

"God won't let her die, Granny," she said chokingly. "He knows we need her so much."

"Maybe He needs her th' mair, lassie."

"No, no, He can't. And Granny she wouldn't—she wouldn't be happy away from Boy and—and us."

"Ye dinna ken, lassie; ye dinna ken; it's a braw world and your mither has been lookin' for her comin' full lang, I ha' noo doot. They were greet friends. They loved an anither real weel."

"But mother would no mind wae in some longer, Granny. I know she would rather let auntie live a while longer for our sakes. She has got used to waitin'."

"Lass, you mu'nna cry," said the old woman gently. "If she gang awa' it'll be God's good pleasure. If she hides 'twill be His Mercy. We will bode an' pray for the best, Glossie."

When Gloss sought the wood a white, sweet-scented mist was rising from the leafy carpet where a thin veil of snow had rested. The low calls of the feathered denizens of the Wild sounded mellow and indistinct from the softwood swales, for the sky was changing to the slate-blue of even-tide. Down in the stumpy potato-patch Boy and Big McTavish were busily engaged in turning the snowy tubers out of the black soil.

Gloss skirted the patch, keeping a thicket between her and the workers, and peered on southward until she reached a wide ridge of giant beech trees, whose long arms were fruited with the toothsome nuts which the first frost of autumn would send in a shower to the earth.

Black and red squirrels were busy among the trees, garnering their winter's food. They worked noisily, chattering and scolding. They were a busy little body of workers, and they could not afford to pay much attention to the wood-nymph whom they had become accustomed to see in their kingdom. The bird-note restfulness and happiness had stolen back to the heart of the girl. Her great eyes were alive with light and joy, and she passed on, humming a merry tune to herself, drinking in the golden beauty, the songs, and the scent of nature.

Beyond a tangled clump of trees, Gloss came unexpectedly upon another creature of the wood. A young doe was browsing among the tender shoots of the brush-pile, and at the girl's footsteps it lifted its shapeless head and stood quivering, its nostrils dilated and its sides heaving. And so the two animals of the Wild gazed at each other with a deep and growing wonder.

Nature had built those two after the same fashion. Both were slender and graceful; both were alert and watchful; both possessed long-lashed eyes; both were wild, free and beautiful.

The doe stood with her slender mouth tilted, her sensitive ears tremble, her humid eyes fastened upon the girl of the forest, who, instinctively, she felt, would do her no harm.

For a moment the two creatures stood gazing at each other. The doe reached forward timidly and plucked another mouthful of the juicy twigs, then with a sudden start leaped into the thicket on the right.

Gloss turned quickly. A little man with a small face fringed with whiskers, and light blue eyes, blinking from beneath a conical cap, stepped out from behind a tree, and lowered the hammer of his long rifle.

"Jinks and ironwood!" he ejaculated. "you stud right in my way, Gloss. I'd o' haid that doe sure!"

"If I hadn't been a trifle timid about hittin' you."

"Did-did you want to shoot that pretty little thing, Ander?" asked Gloss, her cheeks aflame.

"Wall, I don't know," laughed the little man, coming forward. "I tell you that war as fine a doe as I've seen this season, girl."

"Poor thing," sighed Gloss; then, "I'm glad she got away; I'm glad she got away."

"Somebody she'll get her," said the man. "She's pretty tame and she'll get shot sooner or later."

The girl stood looking away through the wood.

"Ander," she said, "I know you're a pretty good man. I want you to promise me that you won't shoot things—things like her. It's terrible. Why, they are so young, they don't know any danger. You'd give them all a chance, now, wouldn't you?"

Declute looked puzzled, scratched his head and grinned; then he looked down.

"Why, I don't mind promisein' that," he stammered. "I ain't cair' much to shoot—any deer without givin' it something of a chance. And I will say that to shoot 'em without givin' somethin' again' my promise. All right, Gloss, old Ander'll promise not to shoot that doe or any other like it. Dang me, but you and her seemed a lot, a lot alike to me somehow. I reckon I'm good enough of a shot to have got by you; but somethin' kept my rifle down. I see you two lookin' at each other—her eyes, your eyes—wall, I can't say what makes me think you two are alike, but you are. No, sirc, Ander won't shoot any more does—at least, not this season. Now, Gloss, I want you to come over to my place and see my musus. She's bound to have a loggin'-bee right soon, and she wants you to help her lay out the eatin' line. I can't say much—you know what Rachel's like. When she takes a notion to do a thing I might as well give in right on the start and save trouble. I don't know why we wander long, but that don't matter—we're goin' to log, 'cause Rachel says so. Come along over and sorter give th' old woman a tip or two about what she should get together for the table. I'll see you back through th' bush, 'cause I want her see Boy about some traps."

They started out, the man keeping up a running fire of conversation, his short legs taking two steps to, the tall girl's one, and his little eyes, by force of habit shooting here and there through the bush.

Ma Wants a Change
"Going away this summer?"
"Guess not, Pa and Ma can't agree."

"What's the matter?"
"Pa wants to go somewhere where he can play golf, and Ma insists on going to a place where golf has never been heard of."

The best time to kiss a pretty girl is any old time.

How To Restore Damaged Pasture

Good Practice to Divide Pasture Into Two Fields

Many farmers were forced in the spring to turn their stock out to pasture early, notwithstanding the fact that grass started slowly. The effect of this early pasturing may be seen now in short pastures which, in some sections, are beginning to burn out. A pasture that is eaten down close during the early spring is sure to go into the hot weather of summer in bad condition. The roots of that grass are not protected by the leaves and blades as they are intended to be and evaporation from the soil is rapid and the roots are usually badly damaged. In such condition grass can make but little growth.

Andrew Boss, veteran farm manager with the Minnesota Experiment Station, says such pastures can be saved to some extent by proper care. Where the average of pasture is sufficient with a little to spare, many of the bare or thinner spots can be top-dressed with good barnyard manure to advantage. The top-dressing will protect the roots somewhat, and in the course of a month or two a decided improvement in quantity and quality of grass will be noted.

"It is good practice," says Mr. Boss, "to divide the pasture into two fields if possible and pasture alternate weeks, or for alternate longer periods depending on the quantity of grass, and the condition it is in. A pasture should be allowed to make good growth and be held in reserve until the hot weather of July and August comes on. During the hot season it is difficult enough to keep stock in good pasture, and no pains should be spared to have at least one or two good pasture fields for this season."

Changed Style of Living
One-Time Upper Class Germans Live in Poverty
How the erstwhile well-to-do live in present day Germany, is described in the Allgemeine Zeitung, by an elderly high state functionary, who says that although he belongs to the upper 30,000 in Prussia, according to the income tax schedule, his style of living is reduced to that of a plain laborer.

"I own a fine mansion in a fashionable Berlin suburb," he writes, "but we have been obliged to let four rooms furnished, and will have to restrict our own apartments still further."

"Before the war, we breakfasted on eggs and bacon, white bread and butter, and tea with cream and sugar; now we have to content ourselves with thin gruel, black bread, no butter or sugar, and the nondescript 'official' jam."

"Only once or twice a week does meat appear on the dinner table, never a joint. Wine has been abolished. Supper consists of porridge, herrings or cheese. Before the war the family used seven pints of milk daily; now a quarter of a pint is the allowance."

"Clothes are worn threadbare; my son mends my shoes and my daughter cuts my hair."

"Letter writing has become too expensive. I tear off unused half sheets of letters received and use old envelopes inside out. Baths are cut down to one-half."

"We can no longer afford to entertain company to meals; we meet our friends after supper."

"The present lean times, the writer confesses, have not impaired his health very much, although he says he has become 'somewhat spare in body.'"

How To Protect Roots of Trees

Should be Covered to Prevent Early Thawing in Spring

One can plant trees or shrubbery here with practically perfect assurance that they will live through the first winter, the time of danger, if proper care is taken of them. Many gardeners get the idea that if they can prevent the roots from freezing up they are doing the proper thing, whereas it is perfectly natural for the roots of all the trees and shrubs to freeze up during the winter months and does no harm whatever.

The proper method is to let the roots freeze hard in the fall, waiting for good stiff winter weather to accomplish this. Once they are frozen during the first winter they should be covered with any kind of covering that will prevent them thawing out too early in the spring. If the snow is deep around them this will help, but in any case they should be covered over.

What does damage is alternate thawing and freezing in the spring; and it is the springing with fall wheat. If the spring weather is consistently cold, and the break-up gradual, then the wheat will winter well. If, however, there is an early and complete thaw, and then later freezing weather again, fall wheat, or trees shrubs and perennials, are likely to be "winter-killed." Consistently cold weather in the winter, with a slow break-up in the spring, are the best possible protections.

Alberta's Dairy Record

Production Expected to Reach 12,000,000 Pounds This Year

The production of butter in Alberta in 1920 will, in all probability, reach twelve million pounds. W. W. Prevey, one of the leading creamery men in central Alberta, predicts. In view of the scarcity of feed which prevailed in some parts of the province during the winter and the very late spring, this is regarded as a rather remarkable achievement, inasmuch as the entire production for 1919 was only 11,000,000 pounds. Last year Edmonton produced more butter than any other city in Canada.

Culture is the butter of the well bred.

Use Cuticura to Keep Your Hair From Falling

How many people have fallen given this advice to men who are losing their hair because of dandruff and scalp irritation. At night rub Cuticura Ointment into the scalp. Next morning shampoo with Cuticura Soap and hot water. A clean, healthy scalp means good hair.

A Trip of the Foot Starts This Gas-Power Washer

One of the most delightful features of the Maytag Motor Washer is the fact that it is perfectly simple.

"Put hot water and soap into the dispenser. Fill it with suds. Then give the special starting wheel a flip with your foot. That is all."

With a flip of the foot, the "gas-propelled" little motor washer gets about its work and cleanses all the washday worry from your face.

Many, many homes not having electricity are today enjoying this great convenience. It is the famous Maytag motor washer.

It is the only washing machine in the world with a gasoline motor built right into the machine.

Handles heavy or light, sudsing, scrubbing. Does a thorough job of cleaning in a very short time.

Does away with all the hard work—saves a lot of time—and protects the clothes.

Has a great motor. You merely feed the clothes through it. And when you need for washing, separate, ground, or, etc., to the special motor wheel.

The little motor washer will operate them for you. Why make the family washing a chore when the Maytag is so reasonable?

Go to your local Maytag dealer and see this machine. If none in your town write for Free Household Manual.

In the meantime write for a free copy of our famous Maytag "Household Manual". It contains hundreds of valuable suggestions about washing and handling fabrics and also describes the machine. Write us today.

WINNIPEG CALGARY

Into Unknown Australia

Railways Can Open Area Capable of Carrying 20,000,000 Sheep

An expeditionary party, representing a West Australian railway league and the Commonwealth government, has been travelling in the northwest and far north of Western Australia. Some idea of the immensity of this little-known corner of the Commonwealth may be gathered from the fact that the party covered 1,500 miles by steamer along the coast, thence by a motor-car, traversed 1,000 miles of country. A vast belt of country was found stretching eastward from the Leopold ranges into the northern territory, capable of carrying 20,000,000 sheep if opened by railway. In the latest season an record not more than a few hundred head of sheep of poor condition was seen by the party, a striking proof of the richness of northern Australia.

Don't blame a man for being a strike agitator if he owns a bowling alley.

Wash Day and Backache

WASH DAY is the least welcome day of the week in most homes, though sweeping day is not much better. Both days are most trying on the back.

The strain of washing, ironing and sweeping frequently deranges the kidneys. The system is polluted and backache, rheumatism, pains in the limbs result.

Kidney action must be aroused—the liver awakened to action and the bowels regulated by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This favorite prescription of the well-known Receipt Book author will not fail you in the hour of need.

Scientist Starts On Expedition

Will Attempt to Reach North Point Danish Greenland

An attempt to reach North Point and thus complete the Danish exploration of North Greenland, will be made by Lange Koch, the young Danish scientist and Polar explorer. The aim of his expedition, which is expected to last about two years, aside from scientific purposes, is to secure Danish sovereignty of all Greenland.

Koch, who in the capacity of geologist, participated in Knud Rasmussen's last expedition, hopes to reach Inglefield Gulf by motorship in August or December will endeavor to establish a depot 250 miles north-east of there. A mechanic will be the only white man to accompany him, the other members of the expedition being Eskimos.

Henry Koch has placed an ice-crawling tractor at Koch's disposal.

A TONIC FOR THE NERVES

The Only Real Nerve Tonic Is A Good Supply of Rich, Red Blood

"If people would only attend to their blood, instead of worrying themselves ill," said an eminent nerve specialist, "we doctors would not see our consulting rooms crowded with nervous wrecks. More people suffer from worry than anything else."

The secret of things which the specialist spoke of is the nervous run-down condition caused by overwork and the many ailments of today. Sufferers find themselves tired, low-spirited and unable to keep their minds on anything about them. A sudden noise hurts like a blow. They are full of groundless fears, and do not sleep well at night. The nerves and other nerve pains are part of the misery, and it all comes from starved nerves.

Doctors find the nerves with poisonous sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of rich, red blood. Therefore to relieve nervousness and run-down health, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be taken. These pills make new, rich blood, which strengthens the nerves, improves the appetite, gives new strength and spirits, and makes hitherto despondent people bright and cheerful. If you are at all "out of sorts," begin by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes, for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

World Peace in Peril

Failure of United States to Make Performance Equal Profession

In an editorial headed "The Test," the New York Tribune says: "For assisting the Ukrainian nationalists, under the heel of Bolshevik imperialism, who would reestablish the frontiers of Tsarist Russia, Poland has been attacked in overwhelming force. Poles hear again the wail of the Russian knight."

"What is this country for? The peace of the world is obviously in peril. Western democracy is again threatened. The duel is once more on. Are we going to march against gigantic wrong or not?" "If we are not, those who are satisfied with a policy of aloofness may say many things in self-justification, but not so those who boast of strict adherence to the principle of a league to enforce peace."

"Many advertise intense interest in league to enforce peace. But they hold to their lips a bugle they do not blow. They applaud the sermon, but do not apply its doctrines. We say by acts, always more significant than words, that eulogy of the league idea is merely rhetorical exercise. Neither from Washington nor from Davon nor from Marion has come any summons for the nation to give itself. The idealist has visualized this country as a knight errant ready to spring to a rescue. But the knight now sleeps."

"For a failure to make performance equal profession we are not blaming any one." But let us face the facts: man-fashion and temper to some extent the fury of our protestations of undying, supreme allegiance to a noble principle we do not follow."

Ludendorff's Kindness

General Ludendorff is reported to have made an offer to the British charge d'affaires at Berlin to raise an army of 1,500,000 men to fight the Bolsheviks in Russia in exchange for the return to Germany of Posen and the annulment of certain clauses of the Versailles Treaty, among them the ones dealing with Danzig and the Polish corridor.

Air Route Across Rockies

Landing Fields at Intervals of 100 Miles Have Been Located

Captain C. McEwen, of the Canada Air Board, who has been touring the Rocky Mountains for the past few weeks has been successful in solving the biggest problem in connection with the trans-Canada aeroplane route, the location of landing places in the mountains.

He has been successful in locating landing places at 100 mile intervals between Calgary and Vancouver, although the task was somewhat difficult as one of the essentials in connection with the location of an aeroplane is that it be close to a railroad in order that gasoline may be easily obtained.

Capt. McEwen expects to make a trans-Canada flight, and is confident that he can accomplish the return trip from Halifax to Vancouver in six days.

Nature Helps to Kill Insects

Naturalists Discovered That Each Insect Has Particular Enemy

Australia is to receive from a consignment of a certain sort of fly, a "natural enemy" of the blowfly or bluebottle. The blowfly has become a fearful pest in Australia simply because it has no enemies in that country, and in 1917 was responsible for the destruction of three million pounds' worth of sheep. The blowfly lays its eggs on the raw spot, and when these hatch the grubs literally eat the unfortunate creature.

Similar experiments have been tried before in the way of exterminating man's insect enemies, and with great success. Some years ago the Australian scale insect was accidentally imported into California. It at once fastened on the orange trees, and the destruction was fearful. It looked as if the orange groves of California were doomed for all the washers and insecticides proved useless, to stay the plague.

After a while, orange growers, in despair, sent a party of naturalists to Australia to investigate. They found that in Australia the scale insect was kept down by the cardinal ladybird. They collected a hundred of these and brought them alive to California. From these they bred ten thousand, and the next spring turned them loose in the orange district.

Scale disappeared like magic, and thousands of trees which had been covered with a white leprosy growth of scale, suddenly assumed new life. —Pearson's Weekly.

One Great Essential To a Woman's Health Is Her Nerves

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy as the day is long, instead of being sick and wretched. But how can any woman be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is unstrung. The trouble is they pay more attention to their social and household duties than they do to their health. It is a wonder then that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes dark and gloomy.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired-out, weary women need to restore them to the blessings of good health. Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N.S., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles. I was weak and nervous I could not sleep at night and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling. I had hot flushes and fainting spells. When I was on my second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes, when I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer with these nerves."

Price 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The J. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Flying Around the World

Undertaking Now Not So Difficult As Might Be Supposed

Who is going to be the first aerial Drake? Or, to put it more plainly, who will be the first man to fly around the world?

Three or four Americans are said to be feverishly pushing forward preparations for the super-flight, as it is also at least two well-known British airmen.

One or the other of them will very probably be successful; the only question is which one. For the task is not really so difficult as might be supposed.

The airmen, essaying it will, of course, be free to choose their own route, and this means that they will be able to fly for the most part over tropical seas and warm lands where the air is of an even temperature.

There remains the question of expense, and this is a serious one; for to establish a complete chain of landing places and petrol stores round the globe is going to cost a lot of money.

The recent flight of the two Italian airmen, lieutenant Masiero and Ferrarini, from Rome to Japan, cost them $48,000. A flight around the world would probably cost double this at least—say one million sterling.

The Lincoln Statue

Great Undercurrents of British and American Nationality Neither Cross Nor Conflict

Elihu Root undoubtedly expressed the feeling not only of the best people of the United States when he addressed in presenting the statue of Lincoln to Great Britain, that the identical fundamental conceptions in both countries would make it impossible that they should be on opposite sides in any great world emergency. One who gained his knowledge of the United States from the newspapers, or the fulminations of political campaigns might easily be led to believe that the country was seething with hatred of Great Britain and the British.

The native American knows better. He is well aware that apart from the hostility and bitterness against Britain which has been imported from abroad, there is not only no feeling of animosity in the republic, but the common conceptions of justice and liberty, as Mr. Root well puts it, bring them more closely together than it would be possible with any other country. Differences, of course, are bound to occur from time to time. It could not be otherwise where, in these so vast are competing, but these are merely surface disturbances. The great undercurrents of British and American nationality neither cross nor conflict, and so long as both countries are true to their common ideal of liberty and justice, so long will there be an alliance between them, no less strong and binding because it is not expressed by form or convention.—Vancouver Province.

Strangled with Asthma

Strangled with Asthma is the only expression that seems to convey what is endured from an attack of this trouble. The relief from Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is beyond measure. Where all was suffering there comes comfort and rest. Breathing becomes normal and the bronchial tubes completely cleared. This unequalled remedy is worth many times its price to all who use it.

The Moscow fire of 350 years ago is the "world's record." In it 200,000 persons perished.

Build Up The Small Town

The True Future Lies in the Country And in the Little Towns

It is high time that all of us paid more attention to the building up of the little town and less to making the overgrown city larger. The little town is home—or should be. It needs our support and it is the people who must give it life and power if it is to have either. The big city cares nothing for us. It will if it can pull our dollars away and lure our boys and girls into its whirlpool, but that is the only use it has for us. The little town needs us and we need it. Hall's Corners may not make as large a dent on the map as New York but it really means more to us, and we ought to help make it something to be proud of. Why not get over the idea that the bright future of America lies in the great cities? It does not. The future which lies in the cities is showprow, smoked, dirty and unclean. The true future lies in the country and in the little towns. Back them up and make them grow.

They do not grow stale, a quality not possessed in many pills now on the market.

War Not Eased Right

Poland faces a winter of starvation on account of the destruction of harvests by the Bolshevik advance. Italy's food commissioner announces a big shortage in Italy's wheat supply, with no available way of meeting it in sight. And this is nearly two years after Germany surrendered. It is the result of the blind folly of failing to end the war in the East as well as the West and of trying to substitute a new league of nations for the old, effective league which had won the war.—Buffalo Express.
